GRAND HYATT, SEOUL

Korea

After an extensive transformation project over three years, the Grand Hyatt Seoul is ready to reintroduce its 615 guest rooms and suites.

The newly released portfolio of rooms and suites were designed by award-winning Bar Studio of Australia, and feature Claybrook baths and a bespoke soaking tub for two in the Presidential Suite (pictured above). The rooms are open in feel with a contemporary design scheme giving subtle references to Korean culture while staying true to the original design by famed interior architect John Morford.

The Presidential Suite more than lives up to its name. The vast 337m<sup>2</sup> space is blessed with breathtaking 360 degrees views of the Han River and Mount Namsan which can be enjoyed while soaking in the bespoke round bathtub which stands under a spectacular chandelier alongside the windows.

The rest of the executive guest rooms are fitted with inset Ellipse baths in their open-plan bathrooms overlooking the room and the downtown skyline view beyond.
